Daniel Whitlow, P-31994
Words Uncaged
(Poem)

"We're Still So Young" By: Daniel Whitlow (2012)

As we fade away,
We take steps,
Against going insane,
But it's too late,
We trick ourselves,
Into believing,
Close our eyes,
And stubbornly refuse to see,

Hope dwindles and disappears,
As it always does,
—And we're frozen in our fall,
Our backs broken by this familiar wall—
We haven't gained an ounce of wisdom,
We haven't learned a single, miserable thing,
(silence your excuses)
We waste our days,
We waste away,
With nothing real to hold…