

Traci

by

Jeri Cooley

LOVE. Hazel-green pools of perfect stillness longing to be stirred. The depth of which you lose your self-spreading down as you set free to finally become that one. Is there an end do you recall a beginning which way is up, where is down spiraling forever love.

Jeri Cooley
V90510 / A3-237