

UNAWARE

I am unaware of what I'm looking for or what I expect to find.
I know my GOD has someone for me that is beyond my dreams If I can only be patient and just wait.

But this loneliness is 20 years strong now and I feel an urgent call screaming to me to settle now.

So I write, I call others, searching for what is missing.
Dispels my loneliness with just the vastness of her presence.

Who is my equal, superior, and inferior.

Who will speak to me in all ways and very existence will keep me in perpetual awe.

Who is a real friend shares the real truth, and keeps our secrets.
Who makes me stronger just by seeing who I am not where I am.

Imagine if you will what a twofold chord can hold.
It can save lives, the world I see a life of giving beyond that of any ever written, thought of by any person living or passed.

I want to give share, feel, live like every day is our last.
I want to love with the hottest passion giving and receiving never wasting a moment.

Never taking a moment for granted always knowing that time is the most precious.

Love is, all my time spent with you.